PROFILE

Greetings! I'm Alishba Idrees, a dedicated and enthusiastic 18-year-old with a passion for learning and embracing the future of technology. Coming from an intermediate science background, I've embarked on a journey to explore the vast realm of modern technologies. I pride myself on being a hardworking individual who thrives on challenges and constantly seeks to expand my skillset. Proficient in HTML, CSS, and Bootstrap, I bring web designs to life with creativity and precision. My fluency in JavaScript and jQuery enables me to add dynamic elements that enhance user experiences. The world of backend development is no stranger to me; I'm adept in PHP, MySQL, and Laravel, weaving logic and functionality seamlessly into applications. My proficiency in SQL empowers me to manage data with finesse. As I continue to explore and learn, my goal is to contribute to innovative projects that make a difference. With a strong foundation and a commitment to growth, I'm excited to embark on this technological journey with an open heart and a resilient spirit.
